

A look at the best bites

BY TERRY MANNING

More is better, better still. The gnocchetti at Forno is a pasta that has a perfectly round, shell-like shape and a soft, pillowy texture. It's a pasta that's perfect for a meat sauce, and it's a pasta that's perfect for a meat sauce.

2. The signature pasta dish at Al Forno Cafe in Costa Mesa is a rich and wonderful entree containing big fat rigatoni shells slathered in meat sauce, dotted with pulled pork and topped with a smooth and luscious béchamel sauce.

When you're looking for a pasta dish, you want something that's hearty and filling. This dish is a perfect example of that. The rigatoni shells are slathered in a rich meat sauce, and the pulled pork is a perfect addition. The béchamel sauce is smooth and luscious, and it's a perfect complement to the meat sauce. This dish is a perfect example of what a pasta dish should be.

A pasta dish that's hearty and filling is a perfect example of what a pasta dish should be. This dish is a perfect example of that. The rigatoni shells are slathered in a rich meat sauce, and the pulled pork is a perfect addition. The béchamel sauce is smooth and luscious, and it's a perfect complement to the meat sauce. This dish is a perfect example of what a pasta dish should be.

